Real Nappies for London

With Real Nappies for London you could receive a free voucher to buy real nappies or to pay for a nappy laundry service from participating businesses across London.

Voucher numbers are limited but the scheme also provides an information pack and local events like 'nappuccinos', where you can choose to go to find out more and meet other people using real nappies, in a relaxed atmosphere.

If you would like information in this leaflet in large print, Braille, audio format or in another language please contact us via the Helpline or website.

Real choice

By the time your baby is potty trained you will have made between 4,000 and 6,000 nappy changes, so the type of nappy you choose is important.

Nappies need to work for you and your baby, be convenient and good value - and if nappies are stylish and fun too, it's a bonus!

Real nappies are easy

Modern 'real' (washable) nappies are an easy to use alternative to disposables. They come in different shapes, sizes, colours and styles and fasten snugly with Velcro or poppers. Quick and simple.

You can choose soft, natural fabrics to go next to your baby's skin and there are no superabsorbent chemicals. Breathable, waterproof outer wraps prevent leaks.

A flushable liner holds solids and goes down the toilet. The nappy is then machine washed at 40-60°C. No need to soak or pre-wash.

No pins. No boiling. No waste. No fuss.

For even more convenience, you can use a nappy laundering service. These provide a bin to collect used nappies and bring a pile of cotton nappies, freshly laundered to hospital standards, straight to your home.

Real nappies can save you money

You can save £500 or more for your baby compared to using disposables. Further savings can be made reusing your real nappies on a second or third child. Laundry services cost around the same as a supply of disposables.

Better for your baby's future

London sends around 90,000 tonnes of disposable nappies to landfill sites every year. The plastics they contain and landfill conditions mean that every single one could still be sitting there when your grandchildren's grandchildren are changing nappies.

Disposable nappies can make up more than half of the rubbish in your dustbin when you have a baby. Even if you use disposables sometimes, using real nappies any time means you are helping to reduce nappy waste.

And they look great!

With styles to suit all tastes and moods, real nappies are as much a fashion choice as other baby clothes and make great presents.

Real Nappies for London

London has a new scheme to help Londoners to try 'real' (washable) nappies for their babies.

You could receive a free pack, including a voucher, which you can exchange for real nappies and accessories at listed retailers across London, or for a laundry service for a trial period.

Your pack also contains information on how to use real nappies, local contacts and an invitation to a real nappy event near you.

Councils sending out the packs are listed overleaf, but more will be joining, so do check if yours is involved. See the website or ring the helpline to find out more.
